WILD TEMPEST

Death and Destruction in the Wake of a Michigan Storm.

Much Valuable Village and Farm Property Razed to the Earth.

Between Twenty and Twenty-five People Killed and Nearly Thirty Injured, Some of Whom Will Die-Five Killed at Thomas—Other Towns Visited.

ORTONVILLE, Mich., May 26 .- A cyclone swept over the northern portion of Oakland county Monday afternoon.
The storm passed about half a mile north of this village. It came from the west and went on a due line east. The path of the cyclone was half a mile wide. Every farm house in its path for a distance of fully 15 miles was de-stroyed, and between twenty and twenty-five persons were killed and nearly thirty injured, some of whom will die.

The names of some of the killed fol-

Daniel Thompson and son, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell and two chil-dren, Abram Quick and three children, John Porritt, Mrs. Joseph Porritt, John Milkey, Mrs. T. J. Heaton, two children of a Mr. Howe, Mrs. Henry Quick. Oakwood, the next village north of here, is reported to have been com-pletely wiped out and many persons killed and injured.

At Thomas, which is located a few miles east of here, many buildings were destroyed and it is said five per-sons lost their lives.

Motamora, a town a few miles north of Thomas, on the line of the Michigan Central, also suffered severely and several persons were killed. Among those injured are: Oscar Granger, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Porritt, Archie Woodruff.

Oakwood, which is reported to have been wiped out by the cyclone is a village of 200 people. It has no railroads or telegraph. Thomas is a village of 400 inhabitants. It is on the Bay City division of the Michigan Central railroad, eighteen miles north of Pontiao.

Communication with Clarkston, a village of 400 inhabitants in Independence township, Oakland county, is also interrupted and it is reported that some damage has been done there.

Mr. CLEMENS, Mich., May 20.-The cyclone which struck here Monday evening was not as disastrous as at first reported. About twenty-five houses were demolished; but, so far as can be learned now, no people was killed. Mrs. Pohl and three sons were seriously and perhaps fatally injured. The cyclone has done an immense amount of damage to the surrounding LAREVIEW, Mich., May 20.—A small cyclone struck this place Monday afternoon at five o'clock, destroying crops, trees and everything in its path. A large barn of Robt. Edgar was demolished and one owned by Fred. Edgar was moved from its foundation and crushed. Heavy oak rails were carried across a ten-acre lot and splintered. A drenching rain followed.

DETROIT, Mich., May 20.—At Bay

City the storm was severe. A city light tower and one house were wrecked. At Oakwood the cyclone struck the village at seven p. m. Due west of the town the fields are strewn with dead and wounded, and it is impossible to get a correct estimate of the damage until daylight. A dezen buildings were destroyed at Thomas, including Johnson's hotel and the McDermott house.

Great many farmers' buildings in Oakland county were entirely de-stroyed. An Oxford man says that the dead and wounded in that vicinity will reach one hundred.

THE LABOR BILL.

An Amendment Authorizing the Appoint-ment of a Non-Partisan Committee to Collect Information.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The house committee on labor Monday amended the bill authorizing the appointment of a non-partisan committee to collect information and to recommend legislation to meet the problems presented by labor, agriculture and capital by reducing the number of members from 20 to 12. These will be three representa-tives of labor; three of agriculture, three of manufactures and three of business.

As amended the bill permits the president of the United States to appoint the commission it was reported to the house Monday afternoon and the chairman, Mr. Phillips, of Pennsylvania, will ask the committee on rules to set aside a day before the adjournment of congress for its consider-

A FERRY BOAT

On the Mississippi River, at Cairo, Ill., Capsizes.

The Craft Was Completely Turned Over by a Wind Storm.

Eleven Persons Were Drowned—The Cap-tain, Engineer, Clerk and One Passen-ger Make Their Escape—Bodies of Three of the Drowned Recovered.

CAIRO, Ill., May 26.—The most terri-ble accident in the history of Cairo happened Tuesday morning shortly after eight o'clock, when the ferry-boat Katherine capsized, and 11 persons were drowned.

The names of the lost are: Charles Gilhofer, Richard Thurman, Bertha Stanley, May Jones, all residents of Cairo; Mrs. Shannon and baby, of Bird's Point, Mo., and an unknown colored woman. all passengers on the boat. Wood Rittenhouse, superintendent; George Davis, colored, employed in painting the boat; Louis Hall, colored, fireman; Asbury Alexander, colored deck hand of the boat's crew.

The ferry left her landing at 8 o'clock and was near the Illinois shore about mile below here when the storm struck. She turned completely over and remained in that condition for some time. Her cabin, chimneys and bodies were carried away, nothing remaining but her hull and engines.

The captain, John F. Hacker, Engineer George McGee, Clerk Stanley Posey and Joseph Curry, a passenger, escaped from the wreck, and they assisted Dr. Orr, of Wickliffe, Ky., another passenger, out from the debris, and they all climbed up on the overturned hull, which was partly submerged. They expected every minute it would sink, and Hacker, Posey and Curry swam ashore, while McGee remained with Orr, who could not swim.

Assistance was soon at hand and the survivors were brought to this city, while work to find the missing was commenced.

The bodies of Richard Thurman, Miss Bertha Stanley and George Davis have been recovered. The boat has since righted herself and lies with her stern considerably sunken.

Posey, the clerk, says the wind blew with terrific force, and the rain struck his face with a force like a bullet. He got a bucket to protect his head. Dr. Orr was badly injured about the head by falling timbers. He was standing in the cabin with Mr. Rittenhouse when the boat turned over, and he could not tell how he escaped.

ON THE CROSSING.

Switching Engine Runs Into a Circus Wagon in Chicago-Five Persons In-jured, Three Probably Fatally. CHICAGO, May 26 .- A Pan-handle switch engine ran into a wagon belonging to the Howe Great London circus In The Push! at Fifty-ninth street and Center avenue at 2:80 o'clock Tuesday morning, smashing the wagon and injuring its five occupants, three of them probably fa tally. The injured are:

Geo. Yenger, Chicago, head cut. N. S. Covell, Chicago, side bruised, head cut and internally injured; may

Frank Bailey, head cut, right side bruised and internally injured; may

H. J. Castle. Burton, Wis., head and back injured, may die.

E. J. McCue, Harvey, Ill., head cut. The circus wagon, which was going north on Center avenue, had reached the Fifty-ninth street crossing when it was struck by the switch engine, the pilot crashing through the bed between the front and rear wheels, and throwing the five men with great violence to the ground. Covell, Bailey and Castle were removed to the Englewood Union hospital while Yeager and McCue were cared for by circus employes who followed in another wagon. No arrests have been made.

WALLING'S TRIAL.

—The Prisoner is Confident of Acquittal.

Newport, Ky., May 26.—Alonzo Walling was brought in Judge Helm's courtroom by Sheriff Plummer and a deputy Tuesday morning. Over in the east part of the room the chairs were filled with citizens summoned as possible jurors. Aside from these, there were perhaps less than 75 people in the courtroom, including lawyers, court attendants and newspaper reporters.

The prisoner came into the courtroom with a smile. He says he is confident of an acquit-tal of the terrible charges against him. The following jury was selected, after much dim-following jury was selected, after much difficulty:

Henry Deitz, plasterer, Cote Brilliant; Chas W. Peters, bricklayer, Dayton; Benj Hehman, porter, Bellevue; John H. Krift, founder, Dayton; H. J. Scenes of Splendor That Defy Description

—All Moscow Assembled at the Cathedal to Witness the Coronation.

Moscow, May 26.—Tuesday was the chief day of all those given up to the coronation ceremonies-the day up to which all the previous days have led-Coronation day.

At a little before eight o'clock the special correspondents were allowed to view the interior of the cathedal, as only a few of the representative correspondents could be accommodated at the ceremony itself. Plates of gold cover the walls and there is scarcely any space that is not coated with precious metals or stones, or painted with frescoes or portraits of martyrs, saints, angels, the Virgin or symbols of the Holy Trinity. In one shrine, covered with gold, silver and precious stones, is an image of the Virgin of enormous value, under which lie the bones and ashes of the venerated saints.

Between the four pillars in the cen ter of the church on a dais covered with red velvet, bordered with heavy gold trimmings, embroidered at the corners with eagles, were two thrones, facing the Ikonostas.

Over the thrones was a magnificent square baldachin of purple velvet, lined with ermine, hanging from the roof between the two pillars farthest from the Ikonostas. In the center, surrounding the baldachin, was an interpretable of the state of the state of the state of the square of the state of the square of the squ immense gilded crown. The dais was surrounded by a gilded balustrade around which the imperial family and princess would group themselves.

At 8:15 numerous ladies and gentlemen of the court entered and took their places, and at 8:30 the great bell in the Ivan tower began to boom, giving the signal to all other bells, which took up the peal and resounded thirty years concealed from his section of Bishops and priests in magnificent ceremonial robes were in attendance.

At 9 o'clock the sound of cheers and announced that the royal party was approaching. All Moscow had come to had two sons in Cleveland the result of catch a glimpse of the emperor and empress and their brilliant suit as they descended the red staircase from the Kremlin palace and crossed the inclosure to the cathedral.

As the emperor and empress entered the cathedral the choir sang Psalm 101. The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg, as the hymn of the choir ceased, stepped forward and handed the emperor a missal, saying: "Gratias spirtus sancti sit semper tecum. Amen," and bidding him read aloud the orthodox creed, which he did in a voice audible to all. This was followed by the reading of the litany, with prayers for God's blessing upon the czar's government. The choirs then sang: "God is the Lord," with the response, "Lord, Save Thy People."

The Metropolitans of Kieff and St. Petersburg then assisted the czar to don the imperial mantle, made of cloth of gold, lined with ermine.

After donning the mantle peror assumed the diamond collar of St. Andrew, the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg saying: "In nomina patria et filius et spiritus sancti. Amen."

Then turning to the altar the czar bowed his head to the prelate of Novgorod, who crossed his hands upon his "May majesty's forehead and said: the Lord anoint him with the oil of joy; may he clothe him with power and place upon his head a crown of precious stones of long life; may he give into his right hand the scepter of salvation; set him upon the throne of warehouse at 12 o'clock. The ware-righteousness and preserve with his house is a total loss, and all that porprotection the established rule."

Immediately after this the czar received the crown from the Metropolitan, of St Petersburg, and, standing in full sight of all the people, and still four hundred separators and a large before the altar, with both hands placed number of horse powers, the entire the crown upon his head. Then, taking his scepter, in which blazed the famous Orloff diamond, in his right hand and the globe of the empire in his left, he ascended the dais and took his seat upon the throne, the empress still standing in her former place. This was the supreme moment of all, and, when gazing 'round the church and seeing representatives from nearly every district of this mighty empire, and beholding the czar sitting on his throne of state, with the symbols of power given to him by the highest authority in the land, one had a realizing sense of the connections that its contract with the great power wielded by the man in Bell obliges it to deny connections to whose honor this great function was held.

At the moment of taking his seat on the throne, the cannon of the arsenal thundered forth, the bells rang and thundered forth, the bells rang and the bands massed outside played the national anthem. The emperor, after merely occupying the throne for a few seconds rose and placing the sceptre and the globe on the table by his side, turned to the empress, and, taking off his crown, touched her forehead with it. She then knelt before him on a crimson relyet cushion when the empress. velvet cushion, when the emperor placed upon her head her own crown, which is surmounted by a large sap-phire. The empress' ladies of honor phire. The empress' ladies of honor fixed the crown on her head with a gold comb, and robed her in a mantle of cloth of gold, ermine lined, like the emperor's. She was also invested with the collar of St. Andrew and was led to her throne by the emperor and remained scated at his side. The emperor then resumed his scapter and orb, and the clergy broke forth into the magnificent anthem, "Domine Salvum Far Imperatorem," and Damine Salvum Far Imperatorem," and Damine Salvum Far Imperatorem," of course in the old Slavonic tongue, the choir answering "Ad Multos Annos."

The members of the imperial family and the foreign princess now advanced and congratulated the imperial couple, while others in the church bowed their eyes toward the throne, thus expressing their felicitations. Suddenly the cannon, bells and bands ceased and a solemn silence ensued, while the czar knelt and solemnly uttered a fervent
